AN AWFUL GALE.

Shipping Wrecked On British Coast.

One Of The Worst Storms In Many Years

Reports Of Many Drowned Mariners Coming Into London.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—From along the coast come reports of great damage by the storm. Vessels in large numbers are seeking shelter in the harbors and there have been wrecks. The gale is so severe in the channel that the Continental service was suspended this afternoon. The blast is increasing at Queenstown, where it is reported to be the fiercest in years. The mails are all delayed. The Primrose Hill went ashore on Penrhos rock, not far from Holyhead, where she broke in pieces and sank in a few minutes. One man out of the thirty five on board was saved by a lifeboat.

Marine Disasters.

LONDON, Dec. 29, 2:00 A. M.—A terrible accident occurred near Tannton. The breakwater at Watchitt harbor yielded to the force of the storm and was wrecked, permitting a tremendous sea to have full play against the shipping inside. Several vessels were cast adrift and two of them foundered. Five were cast in a wild tangle up into one corner of the harbor, between a pier and a wharf, where they ground against each other until their hulls were cruelly battered and their bulwarks gone. The damage will reach many thousands of pounds. The Austrian bark Capricorn foundered near Bude, Cornwall, and five of her crew were drowned. One was saved and there are still four on board, who will probably all perish. Two other vessels went ashore on the Cornwall coast. The bark Ragnan was wrecked off Trevin, near Cardiff, and three of her crew were drowned, three others being rescued by rocket lines. The reports of casualties all along the coasts indicate that it has been one of the worst storms in years. Several days will probably elapse before the full extent of the damage, loss of life and shipping, can be made known. Fifty vessels were torn from their moorings in the Thames alone.

YANKEE SAILORS' HEROISM.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The navy department today received from two widely separated points reports of heroism on the part of American sailors. Capt. Chester of the battleship Kentucky forwarded a letter from Rear Admiral Servau, commanding the French fleet at Algiers, which speaks in warm praise of the bravery of two American blue-jackets in rescuing a French seaman, while the Kentucky was at Algiers. Lieut. Comdr. Jesse M. Roper of the Petrel sent a report commending the unselfish conduct of H. J. Cox, hospital steward, and the sailors J. D. Fuller, S. A. Courser, R. Parsons and J. Ward, in risking their lives in a smallpox case, while the Petrel lay in Manila bay. The patient was taken on board a hulk and attended there day and night by the steward. The climate and attending circumstances invested this action with much danger. The sailors formed the funeral party and afterward had to pass thirty days in quarantine and have their clothing all destroyed.

ROBERTS AT GIBRALTAR.

GIBRALTAR, Dec. 28.—The steamship Canada, with Lord Roberts on board, arrived here from South Africa today. The field marshal landed at noon and received a great ovation. The Canada will resume her voyage to England tomorrow.

WEATHER INDICATIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Forecast for New England: Fair and colder Saturday, except probably snow in northern Vermont; Sunday fair, fresh west to north winds.

SEC. LONG A GUEST.

Boston, Dec. 28.—Secretary of the Navy John D. Long was one of the notable guests at the dinner of the Commercial club, held at the Algonquin club, this evening. Others were Assistant Secretary of State David J. Hill, Bishop William Lawrence, Mayor Hart, Lieut. Gov. Bates and Congressman Samuel W. McCall. A letter from Senator Hoar was read. Secretary Long, in the course of his speech, paid the following tribute to the United States navy: "I trust it is not to be anticipated that in the better conditions of the future a great foreign trade once built up will be at the risk of any power inclined to obstruct or impair it, but if so there will be no danger so long as the American navy is animated by the spirit of the American sailor and backed by the heart of the American people." The secretary also referred eloquently and feelingly to former Gov. Wolcott, (recently deceased,) as "that honest man, that gentleman of the old school and the new school both, that endeared governor, Roger Wolcott."

TERRIBLE DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

KEYSER, W. VA., Dec. 25.—At Baker's camp, near Durbin, on the line of the Coal and Iron railroad, (now building out from Elkin,) six men are dead and several more not expected to live, as the result of a terrific dynamite explosion. The accident occurred at noon yesterday, while the men were at dinner. The dynamite had been placed about the stove to thaw out. The force of the explosion completely wrecked the camp and killed three of the men outright. Three more died soon afterward, from their injuries. Eight others were terribly hurt. The dead men were blown into atoms, and legs, arms and other portions of their bodies were hurled great distances. Physicians worked all night over the wounded, several of whom begged to be shot and not permitted to live and suffer. Indirect communication with the camp renders it difficult to get full details.

A BLOODY FIGHT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A fierce and bloody fight occurred in Harlem early today, in which four men were shot, of whom one has died and another is dying. Two, both wounded, escaped, and the officers are hot after them. One man is under arrest. The brother of the dead man threatens to shoot the prisoner. The dead man is George Price, a barkeeper and printer. The wounded are: Edward Courtney, shot in the abdomen; Thomas Kennedy, manager of a pool room, shot in the leg; Ed McGuiness, gambler and sporting man. Kennedy and McGuiness have not been found. The fight resulted from the reopening of an old quarrel in a saloon.

THE CHINESE ISSUE.

Von Waldersee's Report.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—The war office has received the following despatch from Count von Waldersee, dated Pekin, Dec. 27th: "A column commanded by Major von Madi will start tomorrow for San Ho Heien, to cooperate with the Grocher expedition, which left Tien Tsin on Dec. 19th, for Un Yuen Tsen Tsin. An American detachment will leave Pekin tomorrow, with the same object. The Chinese defeated by the French expedition on Dec. 23d fled in a southerly direction."

The Stimulus of Pure Blood

That is what is required by every organ of the body, for the proper performance of its functions.

It prevents biliousness, dyspepsia, constipation, kidney complaint, rheumatism, catarrh, nervousness, weakness, faintness, pimples, blotches, and all cutaneous eruptions.

It perfects all the vital processes.

W. P. Weston, Woodstock, Ala., took Hood's Sarsaparilla to make his blood pure. He writes that he had not felt well but tired for some time. Before he had finished the first bottle of this medicine he felt better and when he had taken the second was like another man—free from that tired feeling and able to do his work.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. Accept no substitute, but get Hood's today.

THE HARTFORD'S ERRAND.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The Hartford is reported to have sailed yesterday from Curacao for La Guayra, thence to Venezuela. She will remain in Venezuelan waters to look after American interests, Capt. Hawley cooperating to that end with Minister Loomis, probably until relieved by the Lancaster, also a training ship.

BOLD MAIL ROBBERY.

DETROIT, Dec. 28.—The Michigan Central railroad station at Wyandotte, a suburb of Detroit, was the scene of a bold mail robbery some time last night, when a pouch said to contain $100,000 in negotiable papers, checks and money was stolen from the waiting room.

MAY LOSE AN EYE.

Workman On Dry Dock Seriously Hurt By An Explosion.

Daniel Daly, aged about forty years, who came here with the John Peirce company from New York, to work on the new dry dock, was very badly injured on Friday afternoon, while at his labors. The accident happened about half-past three o'clock, when a premature explosion near Mr. Daly wounded the left side of his head and made it probable that he will lose the sight of his left eye. He was taken first to the Naval hospital and later brought over to the Cottage hospital in this city, in the naval ambulance.

FAREWELL AND HAIL.

A service of farewell to the nineteenth century and of welcome to the twentieth century will be held at the North church on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The singing will be led by a chorus choir and Reinwald's orchestra. The choir music will be: Anthem, Send out thy light, Gounod; Quartette, One sweetly solemn thought, Ambrose; Soprano solo, Ring out wild bells, Gounod.

The occasion is one of special interest and the attendance and assistance of the general public, not worshipping elsewhere, are earnestly desired.

TO LEAVE PORTSMOUTH.

Manchester Paper Says We Shall Lose Rev. Father O'Callaghan.

The Manchester Mirror says that the Very Rev. Eugene M. O'Callaghan, P. R. of this city, whom Bishop Bradley named two weeks ago to be vicar general of the diocese of Manchester, is to succeed the late Very Rev. John E. Barry not only in that office, but also in the permanent rectorship of St. John's church, Concord. Early in the new year Father O'Callaghan leaves Portsmouth for Concord. His selection for the place is the result of the concourse held early last week. Father O'Callaghan leaves a well-established, happy and prosperous parish, for one that gives him considerable hard work for some time to come. It is said, however, that Bishop Bradley desired to keep the vicar generalship at Concord and Father O'Callaghan, of course, responded.

There will now be a new concourse assembled to name Father O'Callaghan's successor in this city. While nothing definite will be known for some weeks, it is generally believed and reported that Portsmouth's new rector may be the Rev. P. J. Finnigan of Claremont, one of the older clergymen and one of the best characters among the Catholic clergy of the state. Father Finnigan has been Bishop Bradley's companion on European trips and a warm friend ship exists between them.

The departure of Father O'Callaghan from Portsmouth will be a shock and a blow to the Catholics of this seaport city, among whom he has administered for more than a quarter of a century.

WHIST.

There were twelve tables in play at the whist session in the Kearsarge engine house on Friday evening. The first prize, a leg of lamb, was won by Samuel O. Gardner, with fifty-six points; second prize, assorted canned goods, by Joseph Akerman; third, a ten pound pail of lard, by San Juan Gray; fourth, two pounds of coffee, by Charles Badger.

YORK COUNTY COURT.

The January Term To Open in Saco on New Year's Day, Next Tuesday.

The January term of the supreme court for York county will come in at Saco on Tuesday, January 1, 1901. The term will be one of the most important in the history of the state, for the fact that the Sprague murder case comes up and Edward H. Knight of South Berwick will be tried for the crime.

It has been supposed that on account of this time being generally observed as a holiday the court would not come in until the day following. But as there is a great deal of business to be carried through the term will begin at the time indicated.

It is anticipated that the term will be about five weeks in length.

There is only one case to come up from Kittery, that of Samuel Fletcher, who is now in Alfred jail on the complaint of James Lewis of Kittery Point.

AT THE NAVY YARD.

Rear Admiral B. J. Cromwell, U. S. N., has returned from a week's visit to friends in Washington.

It seems that the fire at the boat shop started around the smokepipe, over the boiler, and that the dust collectors were in no way responsible for the blaze. The roof is being changed to make it perfectly safe against fire.

A board consisting of Lieut. Commander G. B. Ransom, U. S. N., Lieut. Commander W. E. Sewell, U. S. N., and Asst. Naval Constructor W. G. Du Bose, U. S. N., was in session on Friday examining candidates for the position of third-class draughtsman in the department of steam engineering. The following took the examination: W. B. Burlingame, Exeter; Frank A. Austin, North Berwick; Ezra A. Newell, Portland; Fred H. Goss, Lynn, Mass.; Fred F. Hayes, Portsmouth; Charles H. Oarrier, Newburyport; Alvah H. Frost, Kittery.

BILL WAS TOO SMART.
Farmer's Son Who Thought He'd Have Fun With an Elephant.
"My son Bill," said the old farmer,
"was just too smart for anything. I had a big old bull who used to get loose once in awhile and lick everything in the state, and Bill was ready to bet his last cent on that critter. One day when a circus procession was coming up the road Bill came running from the barnyard and says:
'Dad, I'm going to let that bull out.'
'For what?' says I.
'For to see him hev fun with the elephant.'
'Don't you do nuthin of the kind. The elephant would break his back in a holy minut.'
'Never, dad—never! Our bull will roar one roar, dive one dive, and he'll tumble that behemoth into the ditch and then upset the band wagon. Dad, it's the chance of our life to see a heap of fun.'
'Vaal, now,' drawled the old man,
'Bill said so much that I told him to go ahead. Mebbe that bull smelt them three elephants a mile away, fur when he was let out he was ready fur a row. He paved and belled and worked his mad up, and when the elephants finally came along he selected the biggest of the three and made fur him. One of the circus men called out fur us to take our critter away, but we was lettin him take keer of himself jest then. With a beller and a rush he was upon the elephant, but things didn't happen as Bill had planned
'em. Say, now, but that big beast met our bull head on and knocked him flat, and then he got his trunk under him and flung him into a swamp and never even looked back at him. We went down to see our bull, and he had tears in his eyes, a broken leg and one horn gone. I looks at Bill, and Bill looks at me, and bumby I says:
'Bill, this critter cost me $40 in cash.'
'Don't say a word, dad,' he says as he sits down, with a big sigh. 'I thought I was the smartest feller in this county, but I was foolin myself. I'll work three months fur $15 a month and pay fur the bull, and if I ever fool 'nuff to buck up agin another elephant may somebody kill me with a crowbar!'—Chicago

Tit For Tat.
A weatied Clevelander stepped from a train at Pittsburg one morning at an early hour and rushed into the depot luncheon to get breakfast. He was extremely tired from a long ride and consequently not in the best of moods.
"What do you want?" snarled one o
the waiter girls. She had a get up too soon expression on her face and spoke savage.
"A little courteous treatment," responded the traveler.
"We don't keep it here," rejoined the girl.
"I thought so," was the laconic reply of the Clevelander. "Give me some regular eggs."
"We only keep fresh eggs," replied the girl.
"Everything fresh around here?" queried the Clevelander.
"Yes," she hissed through her teeth.
"I thought so," the traveler replied.
As the traveler ate his breakfast in silence he wondered who had the best of the skirmish. "From the look on the girl's face she, too, was pondering over the same question.—Cleveland Leader.

Made Over.
"Great Scott!" he exclaimed when he saw the bill. "Why, this is outrageous!"
"Oh, no, dear; it is very reasonable,"
she returned.
"But you told me," he said, "that you would be content with a made over bill."
"Well," she answered, "you said you made over $1,000 in your last wheat deal, and I bought the gown on that made over basis."
And what could the poor man do?—Chicago Post.

A Realist.
"So you let your leading man go?"
"I had to," answered Mr. Stormington Barney. "He was too realistic in his ideas."
"Interfered with your work on the stage?"
"No, not on the stage. In the box office. He wanted real money."—Washington Star.

TAKE AT HIS WORD.
A Story About Joseph D. McCullagh and
a Rival Editor.
When William Hyde, who afterward became postmaster of St. Louis during Cleveland's first term, was managing editor of The Republican in that city, he threw down his gauntlet in an editorial on some question of local importance. It was immediately accepted by Editor McCullagh of The Globe-Democrat, and a warm debate ensued between the two able editors. The intensity of feeling grew apace, and as often happens in controversies of that kind, drifted into one of seath-ing abuse between the editors. It was fun for the readers of the rival papers, but disagreeable to the friends of the participants, who expect a that serious trouble would result, both men being courageous and daring.
The cool and calculating editor of The Globe-Democrat replied by the same messenger that he would answer the communication the next morning in the editorial columns of his paper. And, true to his word, the editorial appeared over the signature of Mack, his war won de plume.
The editorial, which was double headed,
declared that he had received a communication from Mr. Hyde the day previous in which the latter had stated that the city was not large enough to hold them both at the same time, and that Hyde or McCullagh must leave town. Following this came a lavish expression of deep regret on the part of The Globe-Democrat in having to announce the sudden and untimely departure of Editor Hyde of The Republican, that Mr. Hyde was a man who in his long career, and both editors pursued the even-temper and respect of all who knew him, and that in his leaving taking the city would suffer a distinct and irreparable loss.
The editorial then concluded with a long biographical sketch of Editor Hyde, as he had died on the previous day. The satire was even more pungent than had been the editorial paragraphs previously published.
It was effective, too, for it ended the controversy, and both editors pursued the even-temper of their way within a stone's throw of each other without further trouble.—

How Did the Dog Know?
Said an old time sporting man: "I remember one night when Jack Harding, a sport known all over the country, was playing faro bank and had blown in his last cent. Jack had a valuable dog that he called Nero, of which he thought as much as he could of a child. Fortunately Jack went the dog went, and it was with him on the night in question. When his last check was taken in by the dealer, Jack turned around and patted the dog, saying,
'No supper tonight, old fellow.' Suddenly a bright idea struck him, and he said to the dealer:
'Is Jack good for $50?'
'Sure thing,' answered the dealer well knowing the dog was cleverer than money, and that Jack would rattle hard to redeem him. 'Puss him over.'
'The dog was led to the rear of the table and tied to the leg of the dealer's chair, and Jack was given $50 worth of checks.
He could not shake off his bad luck and was soon broke again. Jack put in a pretty tough night revelling himself for letting the dog pass into the care of strangers, and he could not get the dog back.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1900.

All hope of Andree has been given up and his will has been opened. The only hope left is that he will return and break the will.

American fathers-in-law with the stuff continue to be easy things for European bric-a-brac dealers and others who have unpaid bills contracted by titled and pauper sons-in-law.

Now that Mr. Kipling has been beaten in his legal fight we may expect some more books from him with language in them similar to that found in his stuff thrown out of the Sunday school libraries.

The Boston papers spell it "kid-napped" and the New York papers say "kidnaped." Webster says either is proper, so there are two ways of doing it and each is right. It is a great language we have.

The New York World gets from its Washington correspondent some political information that will greatly interest the people of New Hampshire. "Senator," asked a solicitous friend of Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire, "is it true that you will retire from politics?" "Possibly," replied the senator, "some day; but as yet I have not fixed the date."—Boston Globe.

Over sixty millions have been given away during the last year in the United States. Instead of supporting free schools, the money has been directed towards churches, schools, art and literature. The closing year of the century has been a notable one for the prosperity of the country and the most satisfactory circumstance connected with it is that the advancement of the world's comfort and higher life has been on a solid basis and appears to be reasonably permanent.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, in replying to the letter from one of members-elect of the New Hampshire legislature, says the following of Senator Chandler's influence in Washington and his recognized integrity in the United States senate: "He is recognized as one of the ablest men and most effective debaters in the senate of the United States. He has the confidence and affectionate regard always of his republican associates, and his departure from the senate would be a great loss, both to the republican party and to the senate itself, and one which would be most seriously felt by everybody."

The outcome of the arrest of Edward H. Knight of South Berwick for the alleged murder of Fannie Sprague, is attracting unusual attention in the Maine papers. The Portland Express says that the case is likely to prove one of the most interesting in the criminal history of the state. That a man who has stood high in the esteem of his neighbors, who has been elevated to important offices of trust by those who knew him best, and who has discharged his public duties to the entire satisfaction of his contemporaries should be arrested and lodged in jail, charged with committing a most brutal crime, is startling enough to attract the attention of the public. He has secured in his defence the services of one of the most able attorneys at the bar in the state, and nothing will be left undone to prove that so prominent a man is not guilty of so grave a crime. The progress of the case will be watched with great interest.

CHRISTMAS TREE FESTIVAL.

The children of St. John's Sunday school held their annual Christmas tree festival on Friday afternoon and evening, in Philbrick hall. They were given a supper at five o'clock and afterward the gifts were distributed by Santa Claus. There were other festivities, including music and scarf dances by the children.

OUR STATE PRIDE.
 General Welfare of the Commonwealth Demands Senator Chandler's Re-election.

Editor of the Herald:—It is universally admitted by foe and friend, alike, that Senator Chandler is a national authority on the great problems and intricacies of naval affairs. Several years ago he distinguished himself as one of the most successful secretaries of the navy that the country ever had. Since then he has been a leader of naval affairs in the senate and his great genius in this line is admired the world over. There are comparatively few states which have any direct relation to the matters of our navy, but New Hampshire is one of that few, and this is, therefore, one of the ways in which the state may maintain a certain vital importance to the nation.

It is certainly a very narrow and unpatriotic sentiment, which was expressed by a certain gentleman also from the interior of the state, recently, that the success and existence of the navy yard at Portsmouth means employment to many Portsmouth people, and he, therefore, did not blame the citizens of this city for being so enthusiastic for the re-election of Senator Chandler. "But we of the interior get nothing out of it," he remarked.

Such a view is so sordid and mercenary, and is so unlike the patriotism and loyalty to the state, which is peculiar to a great majority of her people, that we even withhold mention the locality in which this gentleman resided. Such a sentiment certainly does not appeal to the pride which the people of New Hampshire feel for their beloved and historic old state.

It is one of our great sources of state pride that we had the honor to construct and launch some of the early vessels of our navy which proved to be the best at that time, and to man them for victories in the early days of the republic. To make and keep the reputation of our fathers, and to maintain the general prestige of the state and the nation, should be, and is the ambition of the patriotic citizens of the state.

To keep New Hampshire in the public eye is no easy task. Many other states and territories in our rapidly enlarging nation are claiming preferment and privilege, and our state may become comparatively smaller and smaller from the national standpoint. But, in the matter of a great naval station at Portsmouth, the state has an opportunity to preserve its ancient prestige and glory, and get to itself the honor of building some of the giant vessels of our new and modern navy, and furnishing new opportunities for the characteristic genius of New Hampshire's sons.

Nature has done a great deal for the state. No ambition of the West or greed of the great centers can undo what she has done in making the best harbor in the world on the little strip of seacoast which our state boasts. We, also, have the men to develop the natural resources. At present, our power in national councils is greatly in excess of our relative size, to the nation.

This power is in our brainy and experienced senators and representatives. This power is now being felt. New Hampshire's navy yard for a long time almost deserted, is now by great struggle, beginning to get what nature intended for it. It will only be by great effort that this work will go on, and the yard will accomplish the success desired. The honor of the state and the pride of her people is involved in this improvement.

SPORTING NOTES.

New Hampshire college has a clever base ball player in young Weeks of Greenland.

Louis P. Callahan, an old time cycling record breaker, has become a stock broker in Boston.

The great indoor carnival of bicycles racing at the Park Square Garden, Boston, begins today.

Williams college has once more secured the services of Charley Ganzell to coach its base ball team.

We have as yet heard nothing definite regarding either the Woods Brothers or the Co. B basket ball teams.

The Knights of Columbus basket ball team, which has been inactive for a month, will resume practice next week.

If the Delapoon club organizes a hockey team this winter, the services of Bradford and Bennett will be sadly missed.

Many people who listened to the Dartmouth cheer in Pierce hall last evening could not help thinking, most of them with regret, of how few have been the opportunities the past fall, to raise that cheer in triumph at the close of a brilliant struggle on the gridiron.

Portsmouth is well represented for a small city in college athletics. There is Bradford on the New Hampshire college basket ball team; Penballow, the captain of the Harvard '03 lacrosse team, and member also of the "varsity" team; Bennett, a Harvard freshman basket ball player; Carpenter, who was substitute guard of the Annapolis foot ball team this fall, and Foster, who is a member of the Harvard track team.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Osgood Lodge.

At the regular meeting of Osgood lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F., held on Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

N. G. Albert G. Stimpson;
 V. G. F. B. Higgin;
 Secretary, Howard Anderson;
 Financial Secretary, Albert C. Plummer;
 Treasurer, Edwin B. Prime;
 Hall Committee, Charles H. Kehoe;
 Trustee for three years, Albert H. Sides;

The newly-elected officers will be installed on Thursday evening, Jan. 31, by D. D. G. M. George H. Joy.

THE LADIES' TICKETS.

The usual reduced priced lady's ticket will be issued for the opening night of the Cook-Chenob Stock company, which will be at Music hall next week. As that famous naval drama, The White Squadron, will be the bill, these reduced price tickets promise to be in great demand, as it gives the rare opportunity of witnessing a one dollar production at 15 cents. The management in offering this low rate desire to fill the house on Monday night so as to auspiciously commence what promises to be the most successful popular priced engagement ever filled in this city. Never before has a company presented such well-known plays as Land of the Midnight Sun, An Actor's Romance, The Midnight Alarm, A Soldier of the Empire, The Police Patrol, The District Fair, An Innocent Sinner, and The Ruling Passion, at 10, 20 and 30 cents.

LOST A BARGE.

The government tug Potomac has arrived at Key West from Norfolk, and reports on the 19th the government barge No. 2, laden with 1800 tons of coal, which she was towing to Cuba, sprung a leak, and two days afterward had to be abandoned by her crew. The men were saved and taken to Key West.

COOKING IN LOST RIVER.

Has the art of cooking gone out entirely? This is the question which was suggested when Joseph Arthur came to stage his latest success, Lost River. The first scene of the play requires the little Hoosier heroine Ora to mix a batch of griddle cakes, which are straightaway baked on the hot stove in full view of the audience.

METHODIST CHURCH.

Tomorrow being the last Sunday of the year and of the century the pastor will preach at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on the general subject: Last Things. Morning subject: The Final Judgment; evening subject: Future Retribution. The Epworth League will meet at six o'clock.

RECRUITS EXAMINED.

Nine recruits of Company B were put through the required physical examination on Friday evening, at the armory, by Sergt. Greeley of Concord, official surgeon of the regiment, who came down for that express purpose.

TO SPEAK AT THE PEOPLE'S CHURCH.

Lillian Clayton Jewett, of Boston, the widely known advocate of the Anti-Lynch Law league, will give a half hour address at the People's church, on Sunday evening (Dec. 30th.) at about half past eight o'clock. It will be the last appearance of the talented worker in this section for a number of months, as she has been recalled to the west to organize branches of the league. Her address will be very interesting and instructive.

U. S. MARINES WANTED.

New posters have been put up in the corridors of all the postoffices in the state asking for enlistments in the U. S. marine service. The call is signed by Lieutenant Colonel Barryman and the men who wish to join the service are asked to apply at the marine barracks at the Portsmouth navy yard. The new marines will be destined for service in Cuba, Puerto Rico, or the Philippines.

INSPECTED DOUBLE TRACK.

A special train which left this city at 10:55 o'clock on Friday forenoon, for Hampton, carried Supt. W. T. Perkins, Chief Engineer Russell, Roadmaster G. L. R. French, Attorneys John L. Mitchell of Concord and Francis R. Drake of Hampton and Judge S. W. Emery of Portsmouth, who were to inspect the new double track on the Eastern division.

WORLD'S CHAMPION.

"I tried many remedies to cure piles," writes W. R. Smith, of Latham, Ill., "but found no relief till I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve. I have not been troubled with piles since." It's the only champion pile cure on earth and the best salve in the world. 25c. per box, guaranteed by Globe Grocery Co.

A Promising Candidate.

-OLD INDIA-
 -PALE ALE-

Directions:—One small glass full four times a day, before eating and going to bed.

It is bright and sparkling and has a nice creamy taste, and is prescribed by the doctors generally as a sedative for nervous people. There are but few medicines equal to this ale. Many people who are wakeful find that a glass taken at night secures them a continuing and refreshing sleep. As a tonic for ladies and invalids it has no equal.

It is as good as well as a medicine. It is bottled by the Newfields Bottling Co. only.

It is put up in cases of two dozen pints.

PEACE TERMS NOT LIKED

Chinese Court Objects to the Razing of Forts.

WALDERSEE'S FLYING COLUMN.

Force of Sixteen Hundred Cavalry to Secure Country Between Tien-tsin and Yang-tsun-Boxer Headquarters to Be Destroyed.

Peking, Dec. 28.—Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching, the Chinese peace commissioners, have heard from the emperor, Kwang Su. Prince Ching called on the emperor for consultation, remaining over the night.

The court objects strenuously to reducing the forts and also to allowing permanent legation guards, which, it seems to think, could be made sufficiently large at any time desired to menace the court itself.

After the conference it was decided to hold further communications with the court before seeing the ministers.

The British have increased their garrison at Yang-tsun to 100 men, with horses and three guns.

A flying column of 1,600 cavalry will scour the country between Tien-tsin and Yang-tsun in obedience to Field Marshal von Waldersee's orders to be on the alert in view of the French report of an engagement with 2,500 Chinese troops.

Colonel Tullock's regiment will return to destroy the towns he recently held. This action is owing to the fact that it has been discovered that a number of Boxers unquestionably made them their headquarters.

The British authorities say they do not expect serious trouble from the Boxers, mainly because they lack arms. Fortunately the Chinese government is afraid to trust them with arms, as it fears a rebellion against the dynasty. Otherwise the danger might have been serious.

British soldiers have been found dead outside the Temple of Heaven with bullets in their heads. The murders are believed to have been committed by Chinese.

A detachment of the Sixth United States Cavalry, Ninth Infantry and Fifth artillery will leave Peking tomorrow to investigate the reported burning of native Christians by Boxers, as reported by the Rev. Mr. Kelly, the Presbyterian missionary. The expedition will be commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Theodore J. Wint of the Sixth Cavalry.

Suicide After Explosion.

New York, Dec. 28.—The explosion of an air compressor yesterday injured several men and nearly wrecked part of the works of the Gas, Electric and Power company and of Charles L. Seabury & Co., consolidated, motor and shipbuilders, at Morris Heights. The accident did not, directly, cause any loss of life, but it is believed that it was indirectly responsible for the death by his own hand of George R. Hahn, who up to yesterday had been in charge of the air compressor. The accident was caused by the loosening of the cylinder head of the air compressor until its fastenings no longer could withstand the pressure from within. Then they gave way to the air force with destructive results. Half an hour after the accident occurred the body of George R. Hahn, who had been in charge of the compressor, was found under a tree not a mile from the works. He had committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. Hahn, who was 28 years old and lived with his mother in New York, had been in charge of the machine over eight months. On Wednesday he had worked on the machine all day. Yesterday he did not appear for work. His mother was called in alarm, and five minutes had hardly elapsed when the compressor exploded. It is believed by some that Hahn knew of the weakness of the cylinder, but did not dare tell his superiors, perhaps because he might have been responsible for the death of some workmen. He had not been dead long when his body was found. It is thought that he killed himself when he heard the explosion.

Six Hundred Miners Strike.

Pittsburg, Dec. 28.—Six hundred miners of the Bakerton Coal company at Sterling No. 12, near Barnesboro, on the Pennsylvania railroad, are reported as on strike by National Organizer Edward McKay, who visited the miners' headquarters here. The strike arises from the recent introduction of mining machines, and five mines of the company have been forced to suspend operations. The coal company is an interest of Duncan, Spangler & Co., extensive coal operators of central Pennsylvania, and ex-Governor Hastings is largely interested. The miners are demanding extra remuneration for the extra labor entailed by the use of machinery. Questions are involved in relation to the mining wage scale that are likely to cause vexation in all of the Pennsylvania fields and which it will be imperative to adjust.

Temperance Crusade in Hawaii.

San Francisco, Dec. 28.—Advices from Honolulu say that that city is about to have a temperance crusade led by the W. C. T. U. and the Ministers' union. Two representatives of the W. C. T. U., Miss Jessie McKernan and Miss Ada Nurett, are expected there on the steamer Coptic on Dec. 29. It is part of the plan of the crusade to diffuse sentiment in favor of the bill of Congress which absolutely prohibits the sale of intoxicants to the aborigines of the Pacific islands over which the United States exercises control.

Colombian Revolutionaries Defeated.

Washington, Dec. 28.—United States Charge Reupure at Bogota has called the state department that he has been informed by the Colombian government that the invading troops were overtaken by the government forces at Rosario; also that their leader, General Uribe, was defeated at Corazal, in the province of Bolivar. He was retreating with a few remaining followers through the department of Magdalena toward the Venezuelan line.

White Ribboner Demolishes Saloon.

Whitina, Kan., Dec. 28.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, president of Barber County W. C. T. U., entered the Carey hotel bar-room and with a stone smashed a $300 painting and broke mirrors in two saloons at Whitina, Kan., some months ago and declared there is no law under which she can be prosecuted. She was lodged in the county jail, charged with malicious destruction of property.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES.

The president has ordered the preference in the civil service of veterans of the war with Spain.

The wheat crop of 1900 is 522,220,305 bushels. The area of winter wheat planted is 30,282,564. The condition of the growing crop Dec. 1 was 97. The production of corn in 1900 is estimated at 2,105,102,516 bushels.

The steamer Mowara brings advices from Queensland that a prospector named P. Killare has been killed and, according to the belief of the ship's people, eaten by the natives. It was reported that gold had been discovered near Apia, in Samoa, and that Matafua is becoming restless and on Dec. 6 called a meeting of native chiefs.

Pardoned by Governor Roosevelt.

New York, Dec. 28.—Guy Rosh, who was sentenced to nine years in Sing Sing prison for grand larceny from this city and who has served three years, five months and three days of the sentence, was yesterday released from the prison. He had been in Sing Sing since the day of his arrest. None of the prison officials at Sing Sing could give any information concerning the release. All they knew was that the order was signed by Governor Roosevelt.

Forty-nine Children Drowned?

Burlington, Ia., Dec. 28.—A telephone message to The Hawkeye from Washington, Ia., says 40 school children were killed on the river at Foster, Ia., near West Chester, on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, were drowned. Telephone and telegraph messages to all available points fail to confirm the story.

Wolcott's Bequests to Charities.

Boston, Dec. 28.—By the will of former Governor Wolcott, which has been filed in the Suffolk probate court, Harvard college is to receive $20,000. There are several other public bequests, as follows: Massachusetts General hospital, $5,000; Boston Museum of Fine Arts, $5,000; Hampton Normal and Agricultural institute, $1,000; Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute, $1,000; trustees of the Wolcott Library of Littlefield, Conn., $1,000; trustees of the Public Library of Milton, $2,000.

British Attack Boxers.

Tien-tsin, Dec. 28.—A force of 1,100 (?) British troops, with two guns and a Maxim gun, has gone to Yang-tsun to attack the Boxers in that vicinity and protect the railroad. The Germans and Japanese are clearing the river of pirates from Taku to Tien-tsin.

Intercollegiate Chess.

New York, Dec. 28.—Princeton has won the chess match with Yale in decisive fashion, scoring 3½ of the possible 4 points. A close struggle between Columbia and Harvard ended in the former's favor by 2½ to 1½, no less than three of the games being drawn.

Tortured For Disobedience.

An extraordinary custom prevails among some Chinese a few days after the marriage ceremony is performed, the bride being required at a festival to repeat certain phrases after any of the guests assembled on the penalty of suffering cruel tortures, such as burning her face with lighted sticks, a red-hot poker or such like implements. A short time ago a marriage took place in Hollywood road, near the Man Wu temple, and a festival was held in honor of the event.

A young Chinese, in the course of the festivities, asked the bride to repeat certain phrases after him, which she refused to do. He thereupon inflicted serious injuries to her face with burning sticks and the lighted end of his cigar. The bride and some of the friends of the bride being greatly angry, a quarrel with the young man broke out, and the result that he was brought before Commissioner Hastings at the magistracy, charged with assault. He pleaded that he was only shy of her. The magistrate sent him to jail for four months in Victoria jail.—China Exchange.

A Question of Respect.

Alexander Dumas, pere, the author of "Monte Christo," was an octogenarian. The point to the following story of the famous Frenchman's encounter with an interviewer:

"You are an octogenarian, are you not, Mr. Dumas?"

"Certainly."

"And your father?"

"He was a quadruped."

"And his father?"

"A mulatto, sir, a mulatto!"

"And his father?"

"A negro, sir, a negro!"

"Might I presume so far as to ask what his father was?"

"An ape, sir; mon Dieu, an ape! My pedigree ends where yours commences!"

Secrets Not to Be Kept.

He—You know they say a woman can't keep a secret.

She—That's a libel. A woman can keep a secret as easily as a man can—all but two kinds. There are secrets that aren't worth keeping and others that are too good to keep.—Boston Transcript.

Among the funny things women do, is to spread an old red shawl over the sofa and put a candle with a red shade on a table near by and call it an oriental corner.—Aitchison Globe.

A black diamond is the only substance that will not be ground away by contact with the emery surface.

It Was Her Last Cigar.

Some time ago Olga Nethercole, wishing to give realism to a rehearsal of "Carmen," insisted, in spite of a protest from her stage manager, on smoking a cigar.

"As the author said Carmen was to smoke a cigar that is what Carmen is going to do," declared Miss Nethercole.

The property man said nothing, but handed her a big, black book.

The actress lighted it, took a puff, coughed, took a second puff.

Her face grew pale.

With determination she puffed the third time. But then the cigar was dropped and she fled to her dressing room.

There was no more rehearsing that day. That evening and thereafter Carmen smoked cigarettes.—Pearson's Weekly.

Teutonic peasants were the providers of blond hair for rich Roman princesses, who loved the contrast of the flaxen hair with their black eyes. They even had morning wigs, small and tightly curled of any color, and kept the hair-ful, fakes to wear when receiving their ad admirers in the evening.

A Youth Who Had a Preference and Risked His Life on It.

A Capitol hill man has a son about 20 years old, and the young fellow is very nearly a chip off the old block.

One day last winter the son went to visit friends and relatives among the snow-clad hills of Vermont and, of course, while there put in as much of his time in sleigh as he could, because he knew the Washington climate was not conducive to that sort of amusement, and he wouldn't have another chance.

Perhaps it is needless to remark that whenever he went sleighing he took with him one of those pretty, pink-checked girls for which Vermont is justly famous.

And as far as possible he took a new one every time.

Such is man at 20—and later.

The pitcher cannot be taken to the well too often unless it becomes broken, and it happened in the case of the Capitol hill lad that one of his trips his horse ran away with him, and not being the most expert driver in the world, he was almost at the mercy of the frightened animal.

For a mile or more he managed to keep the horse in the road, but beyond were a hill and a stream, with a narrow bridge over it just at a turn of the road, which could hardly be taken at a slower pace. The girl called his attention to this and nervously suggested that they jump out, but he wouldn't have it so and assured her that he would be responsible.

That sounded well, but when they approached the turn the horse would not stay in the road, and the pitching and rolling, the young fellow grabbed the girl and waited for the end, whatever it might be. In a minute more the entire combination flew the track and landed in a snow bank 20 feet deep. Some people who saw the accident fished them all out, and for a wonder nobody was much hurt, though the sleigh was damaged.

When the youth's father heard the story, he was indignant.

"Why, you young jockey," he exclaimed, "what in thunder did you drop those lines for? You might have known what would have happened."

"Well, pop," he replied sheepishly, "I couldn't hold the horse, and I could hold the girl, and what else was there to do?"—Washington Star.

STOLEN MONEY RECOVERED.

Lillian Lydston Had Hidden $200 in a Bed at Mrs. Richardson's.

Exactly $200 of the money stolen from Mr. and Mrs. Richardson of Kittery sometime during the week was recovered by the law on Friday evening. The money, two $100 bills, was found between the mattresses of a bed at the boarding house.

The girl, Lillian Lydston, who stole the money, had spoken about the bed in a suspicious manner during the day and it was decided that it would be well to look the bed over. The money was found as described.

Over $300 is still missing. It is hoped that the girl may be induced to tell what she did with this latter amount.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD.

This Man Went West About Twenty-five Years Ago and Was Successful.

The Boston Record of Thursday, Dec. 27, printed the death of Frank Jones, the son of the late William P. Jones, and who for many years occupied the Litas Salter Treddick house on Court street, and who went west about twenty-five years ago.

The deceased is remembered by many of the older residents of the city. His age was about fifty-five years or more.

He was a member of the distinguished family of Jones, which was well to do and prominent in the city and state. Mr. Jones went west as a miner and was very successful. Afterward he was a speculator.

There are no near relatives in the city at the present time.

OBITUARY.

Augustus F. McIntire.

Mayor Edward E. McIntire has received news of the death of his brother, Augustus F. McIntire, in Boone, Iowa, presumably on Wednesday, Dec. 26th. The deceased went to Iowa in 1872, and has resided there ever since. He was a machinist by trade, and unmarried.

Mrs. Margaret Callaghan.

Margaret Callaghan, widow of John Callaghan, died at her home on Russell street, Friday morning, after a lingering illness, at the age of sixty-eight years. She leaves three sons and two daughters.

Nellie Grace Ham.

The death of Miss Nellie Grace Ham, daughter of the late Sylvester Ham, died at the home of her mother, No. 130 State street at noon today, aged forty years and nine months. Miss Ham had been a great sufferer for the past year and since last September had been restricted to her room. She was well known in the city as an artist of considerable talent. She was of a refined nature and thoroughly worthy of the great respect in which she was held. She is survived by a mother and one brother, Oliver H. Ham, of this city.

The case of Martin Tohan, held without bail on the charge of a murderous assault Dec. 1 upon William Judson, a farmhand in the employ of Robert Scott, came up in court in Exeter Friday morning and was continued to next Friday morning. Judson still lies at the Cottage hospital in a stupor. He has made a physical improvement that is extraordinary for a man of 75 with a fractured skull and at times has answered questions, but has revealed nothing concerning the assault.

Julian Trask Writes of Various Things There.

An Interview With Lieut. Carpenter at Cavite Station

Mr. Trask to Return When His Successor Arrives From the States.

NAVAL STATION,
CAVITE, P. I.
Nov. 20, 1900.

Editor of the Herald:—This season of the year is the most delightful, and although often during the day uncomfortably warm, the evenings and nights are cool enough for one to sit and lounge around his room in night dress or pajamas.

The "Fiesta" week closed last Sunday after a week of quiet with the usual religious procession, followed later in the evening by a ball given by the president and municipal officials. A former occasion of this kind was described by the writer a year ago, and needs no repetition. The only difference between then and now was that this was an invitation affair, some two hundred invitations being sent out mostly to the army and navy officers in this department. The attendants a year ago were mostly natives of all shades of color and conditions in life, while those attending the festivities of last Sunday were of the mestizo variety, and light colored. Many of the ladies' gowns and diamonds would have excited the envy of the American ladies at like occasions at home, and were very elaborate and attractive.

I ran across one gent's costume for the first time. It was a short, white jacket and looked like a bob tailed tress coat. I had seen several of them during the evening, and their wearers being white men, I supposed that they were the waiters of the Spanish caterer. Seeing one of them bring refreshments to some ladies near me, I was about to tell him that our party was going to retire early from the game, and that he might bring in our creams now, when he was introduced and I found he was of the English nabobs, lots of money and lots of airs. How glad I was I did not call him. He was bigger than I was in figure, and I narrowly escaped losing my appetite for the evening if not for life.

The seniorita of last year's writing with the big black cigar in her mouth, and who was near me at that former grand march, was not present, although in occasional senora smoked a cigarette in the promenade or dining hall. Liquors of all kinds were served during the evening from "Mum's" "Cognac" and "Cream de Mint" down to the foaming beverage from the San Miguel brewery. This must have been for the Americans as the natives have not learned the taste of imported liquors to any great extent.

The affair was a success but the poor tax payer was not in it, except to help pay the bills.

The next evening in company with a surgeon from the U. S. S. Petrel, I went to the marine officers' headquarters, to call on Lieut. Carpenter of Portsmouth. He was at dinner but soon came to his room and I met for the first time, a big, athletic looking officer, the picture of good health, the son of the late admiral.

He sat on his cot bed in a thin undershirt without sleeves and looked as if he would have no need of a physician for years to come. During the evening he reminded his visitors several times that we should be thankful that we were not in old New Hampshire just at the present time on account of the snow we should have to shovel, and the strict enforcement of the prohibitory law.

During the stay at his room Major Weller who led the marines in China called and the evening passed pleasantly. Lieut. Carpenter accompanied me part of the way home, and while walking along, who should come along but Lieut. Johnson, another New Hampshire boy.

Judge Tait of the civil commission was over here Sunday, the guest of the old wealthy Chino Osario, whose son was one of the unfortunate thirteen, who were shot here several years ago.

Lieut. Carpenter will go to Olongapo soon with his company to do garrison duty.

Admiral Remy writes me in reply to letter of inquiry that I must remain here until my relief comes from the states. When that will be no one here knows.

Serg. John N. Boyd leaves on the Grant, Dec. 1st in charge of Captain Butler, wounded at China, and now sick on the U. S. S. Brooklyn. Boyd was in Portsmouth many years. Boyd remembrance to friends.

CAPTURED AN OWL.

Had a Pigeon in Its Grasp, But Was Killed and is Now an Ornament.

On Friday evening at about half-past ten, Officer Hilton, who was passing in front of the North church on his way to the police station was somewhat startled by clawing objects dropping at his feet on the sidewalk and as soon as he recovered his surprise made a grab for a mass of flying feathers and claws.

He was again surprised to find that he had captured a pretty white owl, which, as soon as grabbed by the officer, it released. The pigeon flew back to the roof of the church and the owl was brought to the station, fighting all the way, but as soon as the glare of the electric lights struck the bird's eyes it was apparently blinded and stopped scratching.

The neck of the owl was wrung and the bird has since been stuffed and mounted for Officer Anderson.

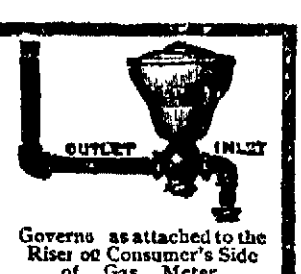

PEARL STREET CHURCH.
